Trevor, Keith, Steve and Matt went to the Transforming Care Executive Board on 13th November.

We asked our Six Big Questions to everyone.

The questions were written after we saw on TV that people in Whorlton Hall were being abused.

The questions check that people in Kent and Medway are safe and getting better.

We had a good discussion and thank the Board for giving time to the questions.

We are now waiting for the Board to finish writing their answers.

We will write a report and send it to everyone in the Partnership Board.

We will not present the report in a Partnership Board meeting because it will take too long and might upset people.

We talked a lot about Transforming Care in Partnership Board meetings this year because there is no other chance for self-advocates to talk about it.

We hope to set up a new co-production project so people in secure care and their families can work together as equals to plan services.

We are working with the Executive Board to make this happen.

The co-production project would work like a Delivery Group. It would keep the Partnership Board updated without taking up too much time in meetings.
