

Kent Learning Disability Partnership Board

Helen Whately, MP for Faversham and Mid Kent

About me

- Member of Parliament (MP) for Faversham and Mid Kent since May 2015
- Before being an MP, I used to work with NHS hospitals to help them improve
- I work in Westminster Monday to Thursday, and spend Fridays and weekends in the constituency (the district I represent)
- I'm married and I have three children

Faversham and Mid Kent

I am campaigning to make things better

- A better National Health Service for everyone
- Fair funding for schools
- Better rail services and roads for our area
- Supporting local businesses and farmers (which means more local jobs)

Health and care is very important to me

- We all need the NHS – good hospitals, GPs and community healthcare services are very important
- I am in touch with carers, to make sure they get the support they need
- I am campaigning on many things to do with mental healthcare

I am keen to learn from you...

Helen.Whately.mp@parliament.uk

House of Commons, London, SW1A 0AA

